

Abstract.

The invention relates to compounds for modulating the glycolysis enzyme complex and the transaminase complex, to pharmaceutical compositions containing said compounds, and to the uses of said compounds for the production of pharmaceutical compositions for treating different diseases.